Share the Spirit....

Dear Parents and Carers,

There are a few students around the school who can recite back to me this mantra – Your problem isn't the problem. Your reaction is the problem. The poster reproduced below is on display in my office and is referred to quite often during the day.

One student found himself in my office when he spoke back to his teacher. His problem, or so he thought, was that he was being wrongly accused of doing something that another student had done. Following some discussion he was able to see that, in fact that was not the problem, but how he reacted was the issue. The discussion went something like this....the teacher is human, is in a room with 26 students and may make a mistake when trying to ensure that everyone is settled for optimum learning. If the student had not reacted by being disrespectful in the words chosen and the tone of delivery, the problem would not have escalated to the point where I became involved.

Another student came to my office following a hands on incident on the playground. She was adamant the problem was that another student had annoyed her by calling her names. The problem that brought her to my office however was that in reacting to the name calling she had lashed out to hit another. I am not for one minute suggesting that name calling is acceptable behaviour – though a fairly common childhood trait – however we need to teach our children that they can learn strategies to control their emotions and reactions.

I worry for our children who seem to think they can constantly blame others for their poor choices. I hear so often from children that they cannot be held responsible for their reactions – he made me hit him, she made me throw the ball away. It is even more disturbing for me when parents allow their children to use the excuse that it was somehow someone else's fault. I can often hear my dad in my head, whenever I told him a school story he would always say, how did you react? What did you do? What could you do next time? Whenever I tried to tell him about another kid and how they had somehow been responsible he would simply say to me – I am not their dad. My dad taught me very early the profound truth that I can't change anyone, but I can change how I react.

May you recognise the God moments in your life,

Claire

Focus Value for March - "Be A Forgiver"

From the Principal.....

PRAYERS: Please continue to hold in your prayers Anne Jochimsen. You may have seen Anne around the school as she has been coming in to do some voluntary work when she has felt well enough to do so. There are a number of parents who are currently being treated for cancer – please keep them and their families in your thoughts and prayers during this very challenging time.

CONGRATULATIONS: To the Francis family (Gabriel - 2 Red) on the birth of a baby brother, Stephen.

THANK YOU: To Karabar IGA and Maryanne Krnc for their generous donation of fruit for our Fruitastic Crunch Lunch fundraiser. All money raised from the sale of fruit and biscuits will be donated to Project Compassion.

FIRST RECONCILIATION: This week our Year 3 students will have the opportunity to receive the sacrament of Reconciliation for the first time. This is at times a very misunderstood sacrament. I often hear people say that they don't have to go to a priest to say sorry. Which is of course true, but what we miss by not participating in this beautiful sacrament is the act of being forgiven.

RECONCILIATION: On Thursday the students of Year 5 will have the opportunity to participate in the sacrament of Reconciliation in St Gregory's Church. Father Troy has also very generously made himself available to all staff before school on Thursday morning.

NSW ELECTION: Accompanying this newsletter is a brochure with a summary of the Education Funding Policies for the major political parties. The main facts that you are encouraged to consider when casting your vote at the NSW State Election this weekend. 1. A significant public funding gap exists between Canberra-Goulburn's Catholic systemic schools and government schools in the same area. 2. Catholic schools save taxpayers billions of dollars each year by educating 251 000 – or one in five – NSW students. 3. Catholic schools require a more equitable share of capital funding to expand schools places to meet growing demand. 4. Parents of Catholic school students contribute to the NSW education system twice – a taxpayers and through school fees.

KIDSMATTER: The brochure outlines how temperament affects feelings.

PARENT TEACHER INTERVIEWS: Will be happening throughout the week. Please keep in mind there is a 15 minute time limit for these particular meetings. If there needs to be a longer discussion another meeting time will need to be made. If this week is not suitable or you have neglected to make a booking please contact the classroom teacher directly by email to set an alternative time for a meeting.

TEACHER LEARNING COMMUNITIES: Last Friday the teaching staff participated in the third of nine teacher workshops working on Formative Assessment and improving teacher strategies. The teachers work in pairs to set a learning plan to be completed before our next meeting. The teachers then make time to observe each other teaching and provide targeted feedback.

CROSS COUNTRY: The annual cross country will be held this Friday. This is usually a very community orientated day with lots of parents, carers and extended family members coming along to assist and cheer on the students. Cross Country running is certainly not everyone's preferred athletic activity but it is hoped that all students in Years 3-6 will give it a go. The St Gregory's team will then be selected to participate in the Northern Region Cross Country to be held in Braidwood on Thursday, 7 May.

LIBRARY NEWS

LOWE STREET BOOK FAIR Congratulations to our winners. Guessing Competition won by Ashley Hewson from 4 White. His guess of 354 was correct! Runner up was Christopher Hodges 1White. Lucky Door prizes went to Anthony Oldfield 1Red and Kate Bartu 3Blue. Colouring Competition prizes : Milly Lawrence-Killaly KBlue, Aleisha Worner 1Gold and Maddy Dale 3White.

PREMIERS READING CHALLENGE Congratulations to our first 2 students to complete the challenge - Danielle Quinones 2Red and Lauren Russell 6White. We will award prizes at the next whole school assembly. These students also finished this week - William Hall KBlue, Marshall Phillips KWhite, Imogen Hales 1Gold, Charles Watson 1Red, William Hales 3Gold and Ivana Rodriguez 4Gold. We have a total of 235 students participating, 50 are already completing online recording and 8 have completed - a great start!! It is not too late to register. Flyers with registration details can be found on the school website under the Notes tab (<http://stgregsps.nsw.edu.au/notes/>). The PRC site is still having trouble processing new registrations and some of the passwords I sent home last week, now no longer work. I am following it up but please do not hesitate to email me if you are having problems. I also have some new registrations I can't send in yet because site is having problems. I have now emailed our first Newsletter to all participants and hope it might help you get started online. Until we stop having problems on the site please encourage your child to read eligible books and keep a manual list. We have them on display in the Library. Any questions can be directed to rosalind.wythes@cg.catholic.edu.au

MATH MOMENTS

Here are a group of terms that are unique to Math. These mathematical concepts are integrated throughout each unit taught and are essential foundation knowledge for all students - Kate McManus-Green, NIP Teacher.

Math Terms to Know {in primary grades}

Ten Frame

a structured way to work with numbers within 10

WHY? { Develops mental-math abilities and sets foundation for regrouping }

Subitizing

the ability to quickly identify the number of items in a small set without counting

WHY? { Subitizing helps students create a mental picture & builds number sense. }

a number line formatted so students can easily identify number patterns

Understanding the 120s Chart allows students to see patterns within number sequences, as well as, easily work with 10 more/less, 1 more/less. Creates automaticity with numbers.

Number Sense

an understanding of number relationships that allows students to work mathematical problems without a traditional algorithm

WHY? { A solid understanding of numbers allows students to conceptualize numbers - What is 10 less/more? Which number is greater/less than? What happens if I double a number? What does a ten look like? }

Place Value

numerical value of a digit based on its position

WHY? { Place value allows students to understand that 15 is not a "1" and a "5"; rather, it is a group of 10 and 5 ones. }
