Dear Parents and Carers,

Last Wednesday our Indigenous and Year 6 students participated in the Reconciliation Walk as part of the activities to acknowledge National Reconciliation Week. Reconciliation literally means ‘re-establishing friendly relations’ or ‘healing old wounds’.

When I made my First Confession as it was called back in the old days the emphasis was definitely on the wrong I had done and my need to confess. When the Catholic Church changed the name of this powerful sacrament to Reconciliation the emphasis changed from confessing to repairing, restoring and renewing my relationship with my God which in turn has to affect my relationships with those around me.

National Reconciliation Week (NRW) is celebrated across Australia each year between 27 May and 3 June. The dates commemorate two significant milestones in the reconciliation journey—the anniversaries of the successful 1967 referendum and the High Court Mabo decision. The week is a time for all Australians to learn about our shared histories, cultures and achievements and to explore how each of us can join the national reconciliation effort.

May 27 marks the anniversary of the Australia’s most successful referendum and a defining event in our nation’s history. The 1967 referendum saw over 90% of Australians vote to give the Commonwealth the power to make laws for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and to recognise them in the national census.

On the 3 June 1992 the High Court of Australia delivered its landmark Mabo decision which legally recognised that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples have a special relationship to the land— that existed prior to colonisation and still exists today. www.reconciliation.org.au The theme of Reconciliation Week this year is ‘it’s time to change it up’. Some of the changes might be to refrain from making derogatory, generalising comments about people according to their race. It might be that we refuse to find jokes funny that are based on race. It might be that we speak with our children about everyone having the right to be treated with respect.

May you always be treated with respect,

Claire Frazer

PRAYERS: Last week I spoke to Anne Jochimsen who is now living in Sydney. Anne was, as always, in high spirits and wanted to know all about the news from school. I know Anne very much appreciates your prayerful support, I assured her that she continues to be very much in our thoughts and prayers.

SABBATH WEEK: Week 7 every term is set aside as ‘Sabbath Week’. During this week no homework is set, however reading should continue as normal. Maybe families could celebrate Sabbath Week by setting aside technology and everyone sits together to read! It is such a powerful message to our children to read in front of them. During this week the Year 6 students will be running prayer and assisting teachers in all other classes.

THEME FOR JUNE: Believe in Yourself!

ATHLETICS CARNIVAL: My thanks to all involved with the Athletics Carnival last Thursday. Unfortunately the number of parents volunteering to assist with the various events was low which meant more pressure on our teachers. I do appreciate that it was not the best weather conditions for the carnival. One thing we can't control is the weather, the days either side were glorious. The students were constantly on the go and it was decided to continue despite the light sprinkling of rain throughout the morning. Cancelling events is problematic as we need to confirm the St Gregory’s team to participate in the Northern Region Carnival in Goulburn.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE: Education for your child is important and regular attendance at school is essential to your child to achieve their educational best and increase their career and life options. A very important element of my role as principal is to work in partnership with families to encourage and support regular attendance of your children at school. If your child is refusing to come to school please contact me so that we can meet in order to develop strategies to address this issue. I am obliged to make reports to the relevant government agencies if a student is absent from school without reasonable explanation. I can also request that a medical certificate be supplied. If a student misses as little as 8 days in a school term, by the end of primary school they’ll have missed over a year of school.

ARRIVING TO SCHOOL ON TIME: There are a number of students who are regularly late to school. Arriving at school and class on time: Ensures that students do not miss out on important learning and activities scheduled early in the day, helps students learn the importance of punctuality and routine, give students time to socialise with friends before classes begin and perhaps most importantly reduces classroom disruption. Any students arriving after morning assembly need to be signed in at the office by a parent, carer or guardian.

KIDS MATTER: This week is about focusing on using effective discipline, which means setting limits for children’s behaviour.

Important Rule for PRC Readers
PRC encourages students to read widely and it is for this reason that with the series books (eg, Zac Powers, My Australian story) on the PRC booklist you can only read any 2 books as PRC books. You can read up to 5 other books from the same series as Personal Choice books. Therefore a student can only read 7 books in one series for PRC and then only 2 from various series after this. Please remember this rule when recording online. Thank you - Rosalind Wythes, Library Assistant.

SPORT NEWS

ATHLETICS CARNIVAL: Last Thursday St Gregory's hosted its annual Athletics Carnival at Wright Park. The day was a great success, with everyone behaving themselves, as we know they can, participating in all of the events and displaying excellent sportsmanship throughout. The highlight of the carnival was the track final events at the end of the day, as well as the running of the third annual St Greg's Gift, which was taken out by Madeline Bennett in a photo finish! Students have been notified about the results of the carnival, and notes will be sent home regarding the Northern Region Carnival when dates are finalised. A huge thank you needs to go to our parent volunteers on the day, without them, days like this aren't possible and both the staff and students really appreciated their presence.

The High Jump event will be held through the week at lunchtime and students can see the notice board for times when their age group will be participating.

SULLIVAN SHIELD: Good luck to the team competing tomorrow at Kambah.
- Matthew Maloney, PE Teacher/Sport Coordinator.
