Share the Spirit....

Dear Parents, Carers and Friends,

What a wonderful community day our school celebrated last Friday. I am indebted to the wonderful staff who were tireless in their enthusiasm and positivity throughout the day. Some teachers were at school as early as 6am and still had the energy to dance in the afternoon. The students loved seeing their teachers having fun and it was a terrific way to end the day.

The day would not have been as successful if it were not for the incredible support from our parents, grandparents and friends. It was terrific to see the parents and younger siblings in prams join in the walkathon and what a spectacular day for a walk. The workers back at school had the timing perfect with over 900 sausages ready right on time!

I have always felt very blessed to lead this community and last Friday was just another reason why it is a great place to serve.

Hopefully you are hearing from your children about the Learning Pit and Growth Mindset. Inadvertently the way we praise our children can encourage a fixed rather than a growth mindset. James Nottingham gives some tips for praise that leads to a growth mindset.

- If you have to try, you must be learning
- Challenge is good for us
- Dedication is what you need
- Great effort
- You succeeded because you worked hard, got help when you needed it, and kept going to the end
- I've not been able to play the piano – yet! (not I'm hopeless at the piano)

Explain the success of people like Usain Bolt in terms of it being as much to do with their dedication, determination, focus and passion, as it is to do with genetics or being in the right place at the right time.

Praise children for something they have control over (effort, focus, determination and so on) This will empower them to learn and grow. For example – Great running, reading, writing, effort, determination, problem solving! NOT great runner, brilliant reader/writer, clever child, you are a natural problem solver!

Don't tell a child they are a great reader when they are not. Not only might the child reject this as pity praise but other children who hear might begin to question the sincerity of your praise. Instead praise children for effort and progress. Great reading – you're making fantastic progress! NOT You're the best reader ever!

Praise a child in comparison to themselves not others. Your swimming is so much better than last week – because you're concentrating more than last time. NOT You're a much better swimmer than the child in the next lane.

Yours sincerely

Claire Frazer
Principal
